Specialization: A specialization is required of all students. The specialization should be in a professional area within the Department such as urban design; land use, infrastructure, and transportation planning; real estate; historic preservation planning; or environmental planning. For students enrolled in a concurrent degree, the other field is viewed as the specialization.

Internship: Professional experience is highly encouraged prior to completion of the degree program, although not required.

Prerequisites: Starting with the entering class of Autumn 2015, the MUP program will no longer require prerequisites. However, a solid understanding of basic economic principles is essential for all planners. Therefore, students should be aware that they are expected to have a foundation in microeconomics for certain courses and thus should be adequately prepared if they plan to take such a course.
